

Five Steps

We have taken five steps on the trail
We have struggled with friends
Us friends, all together
We have walked on roads uncharted
Amidst pebbles, stones, thorns, forest and bushes
We have come to chart a new path
On the first step we will change ourselves
We will get rid of the old, obsolete customs and values
On the second step we will change our family members
It will be a struggle with love but we will be firm
On the third step we will learn the lessons of enlightenment
We will let the world know the true value of a woman
On the fourth step we will show solidarity to the marginalized
We will create a society that values equality
On the fifth step with women's rights and human rights
We have an unbroken bond, we will remember
Our destination is liberation of women and liberation of the humankind
One by one we will keep taking steps our whole life
Our resolution is strong though the road is hard
We will reach the end of this road that is like a relay race
